

ROBERT WYLIE

Teaching Threat Detection and Mitigation

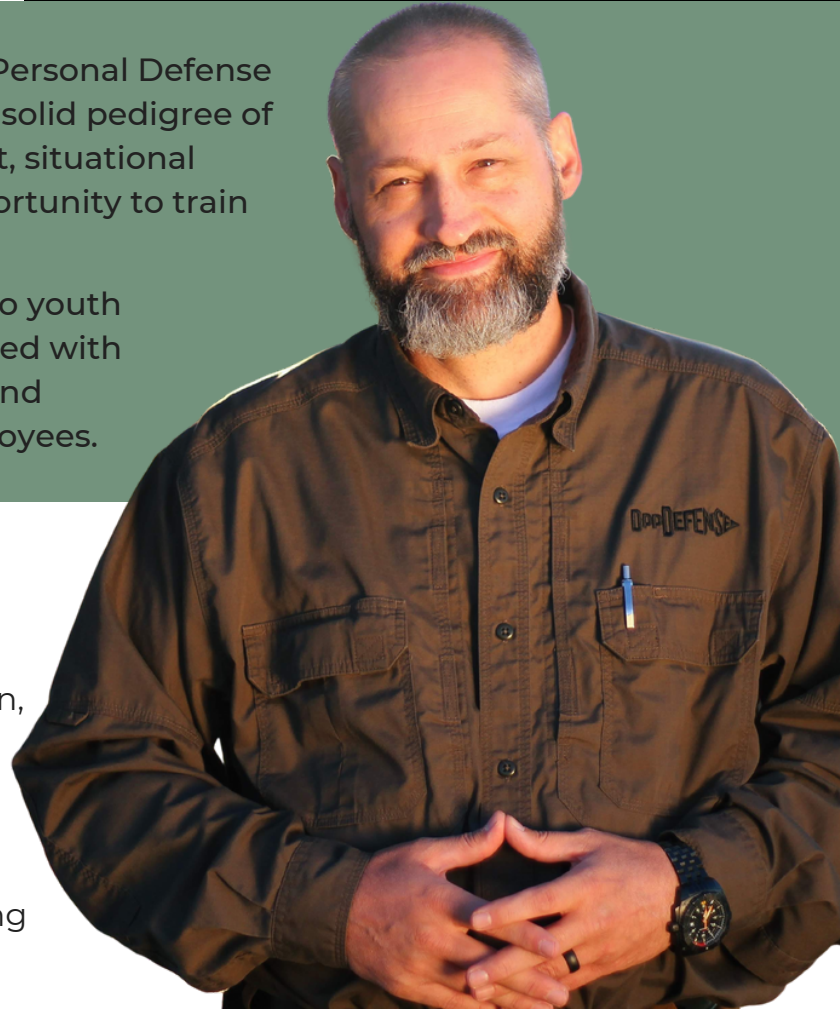

Learn how to identify threats from both animals and humans and how to deal with them.

"Took the class last night with friends. We all learned a great deal about how we can be trained to recognize threats and be better prepared to defend ourselves and protect others. Great class! Highly recommend it to all." - Frosty W.

For over the last 30+ years Robert has studied Personal Defense and Weapon craft skills. He has learned from a solid pedigree of world renowned experts in the fields of combat, situational awareness and self defense. Including the opportunity to train with multiple law enforcement agencies.

Through the years he has taught self-defense to youth groups and adults. Over his career he has worked with companies to help establish multiple policies and procedures to increase the safety of their employees.

Topics

Predator Identification - How to identify the different types of predators and deal with each type. This includes physical attacks, manipulation, and fraud.

Hope And Healing After A Suicide Or Suicide Attempt - I share my personal experience of overcoming my self-harming thoughts and losing every member of my team to suicide.

Clients

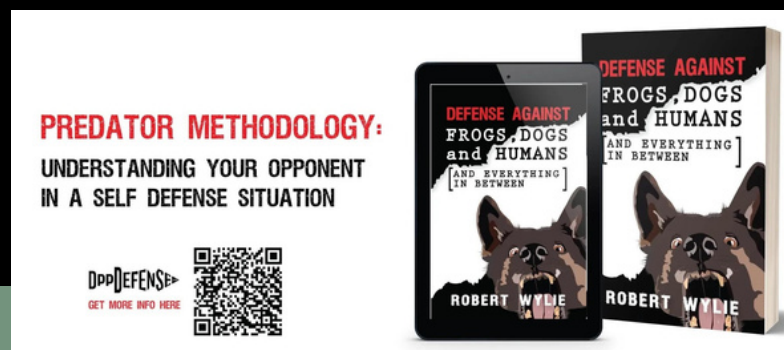

- Grand Teton Council Cedar Badge (BSA)
- Teton Grooming Expo
- Upper Valley Realtors Association
- Friends for Learning - Idaho State University
- Bonneville County School District 93

Phone: 208-313-6578

Email: dppdefense@gmail.com

Website: dppdefense.com/speaking

"Very educational, it was nice to get some knowledge on how to not be a victim, how to identify predators, and how to defend yourself against any attacker" - Noel R.